HOUSE HAS PROROGUED ALASKA BOUNDARY IS DISCUSSED

Railway Must Be Built to Yukon—Right to Make Treaties.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch)
Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Bourassa brought up and discussed the Alaska boundary awards. He supported the decision on all points except that of the islands at the entrance of the Portland channel.

He considered Canada's case lost when the Clayton Bulwer treaty was denounced without a settlement of the Alaska boundary.

The Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, made the statement as to the treaty and the appointment of the commission. The treaty providing for a commission had been signed by the British without Canada's consent. He regretted the decision, but expressed confidence in the commissioners. Canada should have treaty maker's power. Canada would now have to build a railway to the Yukon.

Borden blamed the government for not insisting on three Canadian commissioners.

Mr. Tarte blamed the government strongly for not withdrawing from the agreement when the United States commissioners were announced.

Messrs. Gourlay and McPherson also spoke. No vote was taken.

Business is all concluded. Prorogation will take place at eleven tomorrow, (Saturday).

THE WEATHER

Unseasonably warm weather prevailed yesterday in Alberta and Assiniboia. Temperatures between 75 and 80 were quite prevalent. Present indications are that the temperature will not be so high in the west, but prospects are favorable for fine and generally warm weather over Sunday in all districts.

WHEAT & STRONGER

The Chicago wheat market was dull but stronger yesterday.

HAS COMPLETED BUSINESS.

The Dominion House has completed business.

LECTURES DOCTORS.

John Alexander Dowie devoted a session to the medical profession in his crusade to reform New York.

PRAIRIE FIRES AT CARBERRY.
Serious fires have affected the prairie at Carberry.

GREAT HISTORIAN DEAD.
Hon. William Edward Secky, the British historian is dead.

WEIGHTY POLITICIANS IN QUEBEC.
A platform gave way at a Quebec nomination and hundreds of people had a fall.

HIS MAJORITY LOWERED.
The new colonial secretary of Britain has been re-elected by a greatly reduced majority.

MANITOBA HORSE AT MEMPHIS.
Chestnut, of Brown's string, Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, made an excellent showing at Memphis.

TROUBLE FOR ALVERSTONE.
Lord Alverstone must answer the charges made by the Canadian commissioners according to the outlook.

CHINESE SENTENCED.
Two rich Chinamen have been sentenced to death at Clinton British Columbia.

CAT QUOTATIONS.
Winnipeg cats, No. 2 white, 32 cents a bushel.

CHECKERS

The Strathcona checker club has issued a challenge. There being no club in Edmonton, Strathcona's challenge as a club's should be accepted. However, we are asked to announce that an Edmonton man will play any man in Strathcona at any place or any time for the championship of Northern Alberta, and a supporter for the Strathcona checker club and an equal number of gentlemen from Edmonton. If any checker player in the Strathcona club wishes to accept this challenge arrangements may be made by communicating with this office.

LOCAL.

—Train left Red Deer on time.

—Mrs. E. Over gives tea at the golf links this afternoon.

—Williamson Bros. shipped a car of hogs to Calgary the first of the week.

—It is estimated that this year's world's wheat crop is short over 67,000,000 bushels.

—Thos. McKay, M.L.A., will contest the constituency of Saskatchewan at the next Dominion elections.

—The Royal Road to Happiness will be the subject of Pastor McDonald's address on Sunday evening at the Baptist church.

—H. B. Shaw has received a large consignment of handsome lithographed cigar box labels for his Old Timers cigars. The design is the same as has been heretofore used.

—Threshing is well under way in the Edmonton district. In some districts it is practically completed. More grain has been threshed from the stack than usual this year.

—The management of the St. Elmo hotel are giving a grand opening ball on Thursday evening, October 29th. A large number of the chair there; orchestra will furnish appropriate music.

—C. McLaughlin, of the Sturgeon, has 55 acres of first-class carry. Part of this has been threshed this week and it yields at the rate of 37 1/2 bushels to the acre. The sample is excellent.

—Rev. J. G. Shearer, B.A., general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, will speak in the Baptist church on Sunday morning, October 25th, and at the Methodist service in Robertson hall in the evening.

—A letter from Western Ontario says that very disagreeable weather is prevalent there. There has been a heavy fall of snow. Alberta, Northern Alberta, at least, is enjoying summer weather with bright, hot sunshine.

—On Monday night at the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society, the Rev. Mr. Douglas will give a short missionary address, touching on the work of the late Dr. Robertson. Some special music is also being arranged for.

—The Clara Mathes company put on the play, Tennessee's Partner, at the Opera House last night. A crowded house greeted the performers.

The play throughout was greatly enjoyed and the specialties were very amusing.

The entertainment was fully up to the standard of the other plays put on this week, and the large audience went away well pleased. The company will give a matinee at the Opera House this afternoon and this evening they will play a Solvers Dangler. This play has been spoken of as one of the company continues to draw crowded houses, shows that they have caught the popular fancy.

—The Calgary Herald in a recent issue said: "Howard Stutbury, well known in musical circles here, has received a flattering offer from the Presbyterian church in Edmonton, to take the leadership of the choir there. Mr. Stutbury will probably accept the position, and if so, he will be greatly missed in Calgary." The majority of the members of the Board of Management of the Presbyterian church were interviewed this morning and they state that there is an offer of leadership in the above statement, that the matter of electing Mr. Stutbury or any one else the position has not even come up for discussion, and they wish to emphatically deny the Herald's statement.

—Times—At a meeting of the town council on Wednesday evening the scheme to provide electric light for Watsakwin was given a boost forward and now Mr. Cunningham, of the Cunningham Electric Light Company, of Edmonton, is soliciting shares for a joint stock company. It is proposed to have all the capital subscribed by the citizens of the town, except a few shares which Mr. Cunningham takes, to show his good faith, and we understand the shares are being rapidly bought up. The capital stock will be $16,000, and the shares are $100 each. The first call will be 50 per cent, which is payable at once, and another 25 per cent, is payable as soon as the machinery is installed.

—Regina West—While riding a pony on Friday evening last, Austin Davis, the eight-year-old and youngest son of the late Mrs. Davis, met with an accident which resulted in his death. The little fellow, who was making his home at Simon Antiknap's, Hoggy Creek, was returning home from a visit to his sister, Mrs. H. Antiknap, when the pony's foot touched a strand of wire in stepping over it. It at once bucked and threw the boy whose foot caught in the stirrup strap, and he was dragged for nearly half a mile before his foot was freed. When he was reached by those who saw the accident, life was almost extinct, and he passed away a few seconds afterwards. The funeral was held on Sunday to the Regina cemetery.

ALASKA BOUNDARY AWARD

Free Press.
 London, Oct. 20.—The award of the Alaska tribunal regarding the questions is announced today.
 The questions prepared for answer were:

First—What was the intended point of commencement of the line?
 Second—What channel constituted Portland channel?

Third—What course the line should take from the point of commencement to the entrance of Portland channel.

Fourth—To what point of the 56th parallel is the line to be drawn from the head of Portland channel, and what course should it follow between these points?

Fifth—In extending the line of demarcation northward from said point parallel to 56th degree north latitude following the crest of the mountains situated parallel to the coast until its intersection to the 141st degree of longitude west, Greenwich, subject to conditions that if such a line should anywhere exceed a distance of ten marine leagues from the ocean then the boundary between the British and Russian territory would be formed by a line parallel to the sinuosities of the coast and distant there from no more than ten marine leagues, was it the intention and meaning of said convention of 1825 that there should remain in the exclusive possession of Russia the continuous fringe or strip of coast mainland not exceeding ten marine leagues with a separation from the British possessions from bays, ports, inlets, havens and waters of the ocean and extending from the said point of the 56th degree of latitude north to a point where such a line of demarcation would intersect the 141st degree of longitude, west meridian, Greenwich.

Sixth—If the foregoing questions be answered in the negative, and in the event that the summit of such mountains proving to be placed more than ten marine leagues from the coast should the width of the line, which was to belong to Russia, be measured first from the mainland coast of the ocean, strictly to fall along a line perpendicular thereto or secondly was it the intention or meaning of said convention that where the mainland coast was indented by deep inlets coast was indented by deep inlets forming a part of the territorial waters, the Russian width of the line here was measured, (a) from a line parallel to the general direction of the mainland coast, or (b) from a line separating the waters of the ocean from the territorial waters of Russia, or (c) territorial waters of the aforesaid inlets from the heads of the aforesaid inlets.

Seventh—What, if any exist, are the mountains referred to as situated parallel to the coast, which mountains when within ten marine leagues from the coast, are declared to form the eastern boundary?

The Findings.
 In answer to the first question the tribunal unanimously agreed that the point of commencement of the line is Cape Muzon.

Second question—Answer: The tribunal unanimously agreed that the Portland channel to the channel which runs from about 55 degrees, 56 minutes north latitude, and passes north of Pease and Wales islands.

A majority of the tribunal, that is, to say, Lord Alverstone, Messrs. Root, Lodge and Turner, decided that the Lord Alverstone, Messrs. Root, Lodge and Turner decided that the course of the line from the point of commencement to the entrance of Portland channel is a line marked (A), red in the aforesaid map.

Fourth question—Answer: A majority of the tribunal, that is to say, Lord Alverstone, Messrs. Root, Lodge and Turner decide the point to which the line to be drawn from the head of Portland channel is a point on the 56th parallel of latitude marked B in the aforesaid map, and the course of the line should follow is drawn from C to D in the aforesaid map.

Fifth question—Answer: A majority of the tribunal, that is to say, Lord Alverstone, Messrs. Root, Lodge and Turner, decides that the answer to the above question is in the affirmative. Question five having been answered in the affirmative, six requires no answer.

Seventh question—Answer: A majority of the tribunal, that is to say, Lord Alverstone, Messrs. Root, Lodge and Turner decide that the mountains marked B in the aforesaid map are the mountains referred to as situated parallel in the east on that of the part to where the mountains marked B are situated and that between the points marked P, the mountain marked S, 5,400 feet on the north and the point marked T on the mountain marked S, 7,950 feet. In the absence of a further survey the evidence is not sufficient to enable the tribunal to say which are the mountains parallel east within the meaning of the treaty.

WINNIEPES MARKETS

WHEAT.—In Manitoba wheat there has been more activity this week and influenced by the course of the American markets prices are 1-1/2c to 2c higher than a week ago. The grading of the cars moving eastward is very disappointing and is not likely to improve, the bulk of the wheat is expected two and three northern. At close of business yesterday prices were 84 1-2c 1 northern, 79c 2 northern, 76c 3 northern, 69c 4 wheat, 56c feed wheat, spot or October delivery. For delivery first half November prices are 1-1/2c under October delivery. Tough wheat has buyers at 78 1-2c tough 1 northern, 75c tough 2 northern. Foreign quotations are all for in store Fort William of Port Arthur. Soured or dried 1 northern is worth 81c and 2 northern 75 1-2c in store Kings elevator, Fort Arthur.

OATS.—There have been quite a few oats offering this week, but they were of poor quality and none were fit for milling. The rains have discolored the crop to such an extent this year that it is doubtful if there will be even a small quantity fit for milling. Millers have not done anything yet with the new crop. So far the trade in new oats has been largely confined to local feed requirements and there has been very little movement east. The prospect of so large a proportion of the crop going into the feed grades has had the effect of putting the price of No. 1 oats up and feed grades down the change amounting to about 1c each way. Today new No. 1 white oats are worth 33 to 34c per bushel in carlots on track here; No. 2 white, 29c; and feed grades, 25 to 30c. At country points farmers are getting 23 to 25c for wagon loads. Fort William values are about the same as Winnipeg.

Barley.—The movement is very light and there is not much to be said about the market. It looks as if the bulk of the crop will be found to have been damaged by the rains as samples shown here are mostly discolored and unfit for malting. Feed barley is worth today in carlots on track Winnipeg, 35c to 36c per bushel, or 28c to 30c to farmers at country points.

WOOLLEN MILLS IN THE TERRITORIES

Free Press.

There are a number of factors that operate in determining the question as to whether an industry can be satisfactorily inaugurated in a particular locality or not. In the case of a manufacturing industry there is the question of the proximity of raw materials and fuel, the question of labor of the right kind, and there is finally the question of markets for the finished products of the industry. The low price of Territories wool has led to a search for causes and for remedies. The low price of wool that prevails in the Territories is not peculiar to this country or to this part of the country. While the quoted prices in the United States read higher than ours they are generally on the basis of scoured wool and in any case a large part of the western wool of the United States is fine wool, while ours is of inferior grade. We begin as a rule, with merino ewes, but the flock is gradually transformed by the use of sires of the northern breeds, so that most of our product is what is called crossbred. It is suitable and valuable for the making of blankets and flannels. It is somewhat strange that in the case of 20,000,000 sheep in Australia, by drought tending the reduction of the clip of the same year did not result in a stiff rise in the price of wool. The conditions in South America also led to the loss of probably a third of this number by disease principally.

The fact is that the price of wool does not depend on the available supply absolutely. The use of refuse stuff, rags and shoddy, keeps up the price and the substitution of cotton has an equally demoralizing effect on the wool market. It is claimed by a United States authority on the subject that ninety per cent. of the woolen goods of the country, is adulterated principally with cotton. The progress of cotton weaving has led to clever imitations of many kinds of woollen goods. Shoddy is always incorporated with many woollen garments, and after wool reaches a certain price it is held there by the cheapness of quantities of cotton.

It might seem a good solution of the wool question for a western man to institute the manufacturing of woollens in the wool centres of the Territories. The cheapness of fuel and the proximity of raw material are favorable conditions. The successful carry-over of wool manufacturing enterprises is scarcity of labor, and more particularly of skilled labor. It is well known that factory employees work at wages close to the subsistence mark. This is not necessary in the west, where all kinds of labor are scarce, unclaimed natural resources are great, though living expenses in the towns are high. It is on the labor proposition that the western woollen manufacturer falls down. Then the eastern concerns are large and permit of minute division of labor, and the much lower cost of production for the finished article. These concerns must finish in time, but the field is not an inviting one for the investment of capital. One mill has been equipped in Edmonton and another built at Medicine Hat. The latter has gone into liquidation. Until the cost of living is reduced in the west and the towns have grown to such a degree as to hold a large surplus population that will be glad to do factory work, there does not seem to be anything very favorable in the prospect of establishing the woollen industry in our midst. Its best success at present will be in its limiting its operations to the supplying of local demand purely. If a wool manufacturing industry can be inaugurated in any town it is clear that the manufacturer will have in his favor the cost of freight east on raw wool and the return freight on the finished article, which is quite an advantage. On the other hand he will have against him high cost of labor, and hence more or less efficient and will have higher relative cost for the production of his goods from running a smaller establishment. He will likewise be less skilled in the use of shoddy adulterants and will be some distance away from the big centres where these adulterants are collected, even if he can use them.

If a man begins with the aim of satisfying local demand, and gradually succeeds in educating a part of town labor to his work, he can make a good return and can supply a good article to western consumers, especially in blankets and flannels, to which our wool is specially fitted. When he grows too big he may be swamped by the big fellows, or gobbled to help out a combing.

There is no doubt but that the west has need of such industries to consume its raw material, increase its general wealth and business and help out consumers.

RAILWAY SUBSIDIES

Statement of railway subsidies voted by parliament for ten years.

Year.	Amount.
1893	$ 1,852,488
1894	4,539,169
1895	No grants.
1896	No grants.
1897	7,681,488
1898	No grants.
1899	7,207,687
1900	3,472,000
1901	3,565,472
1902	No grants.

Total ..... $27,640,695

Statement of subsidies paid during ten years.

1893-4	$ 1,529,885.10
1894-5	1,310,549.10
1895-6	894,745.49
1896-7	418,953.30
1897-8	1,414,934.78
1898-9	3,201,226.05
1899-1900	725,720.35
1900-1	2,512,328.86
1901-2	2,092,939.00
1902-3	1,463,222.31

Total ..... $15,293,500.37

CANADIAN IMPORTS AND DUTIES

Statement of imports, duties and preference for year ending June 30th 1903.

Total imports	$136,796,365
Dutiable	96,994,451
Duty collected	37,110,354
Preferential imports	37,614,505
Duty on preference imports	7,069,892

The foregoing shows that nearly half of Canada's total dutiable imports came in under the British preference, and that Canada saved in duties because of the preference, $3,234,846. The Canadian consumer also saved, besides the advantage of the preference the reduction in the price of the home manufactured article, which the reduction in the import duty because of the preference, compelled. The preference chiefly affects cottons and woollens.

The total revenue from customs duties on imports for the year ending June 30th, 1896, was $20,219,037, and for the year ending June 30th, 1903, $27,109,675. If the saving from the preference were added to the total duties collected in 1903, without considering reductions in duties besides the preference, these figures show that under the existing tariff and administration, the purchasing power of the people doubled in the past seven years.

The population of Canada at the census of 1901, was 5,371,315.

SUGAR BEETS IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA

Farmer's Advocate.

The accompanying photo-engraving shows a portion of a field of sugar beets on the farm of Melville Reynolds near Strathcona.

The seed was sown in drills sixteen inches apart on June 4th, and the photo taken on August 15th. The ground was a piece of treading, which had been well worked and harrowed, but only cultivated twice after sowing. There was no thinning done.

The seed came from Ottawa, and Mr. Reynolds is experimenting to find out if the district would suit for a beet-sugar factory.

The crop is very uniform, and the beets a splendid size for the season of the year. Provided they are sufficiently rich in sugar, there is little doubt but that the industry could be made as paying in Northern Alberta, made as paying in the western towns, great activity in the western towns, and elevators are now in demand for and some of the big buildings which are being erected. The new Alberta hotel at Edmonton will be thoroughly modern, and will include a first-class hygienic, and will include a first-class hygienic elevator plant, equal, Mr. Noden says, to anything in Winnipeg.
